

Florence Schuster

Florence Schuster was born in Big Springs, Wisconsin to Carrie (Stowell) and William Schuster. They moved to Colorado in 1905 and they lived for awhile in Denver before moving to the Stillwater area in Grand County in 1910.

Florence attended school in Grand County and went to high school in Greeley. In August of 1921 she was elected to teach the 5th and 6th grades in the schools at Newcastle, Colorado.

Florence married Kenneth Quayle and lived in Ault, Colorado. They had two children Kenneth Quayle, Jr. and Robert Quayle.

Her mother Carrie came to live with her in 1944 for a short time before moving to a nursing home in Greeley.
