Kathy Means has compiled a wonderful history of the 100 year old Grand Lake Women's Club, using the information in the history-filled scrapbooks archived at the Historical Society. The Women's Club was instrumental in getting so much started in our area - the national park, the library, and much, much more. The book is available by calling Muriel Johnson, 970-627-0874.

The Grand Lake Area Historical Society's web site is being re-constructed. Internet users will soon be able to access stories, pictures, and information in a user-friendly and exciting format. Won't be long, so stay tuned!

The Historical Society once again participated in Watershed Week, an effort by many local entities to help students understand the importance of water in our area. We got to tell stories about the history of the Lake, and the kids and weather were lovely. Fun!
